

I·GRACE

We are a high-end residential construction and professional services company that provides a range of integrated offerings, spanning the entire life cycle of a client relationship. Engagement structures vary, and are tailored to meet the unique requirements of each relationship.

For over 30 years, the most discerning homeowners, architects and designers have chosen to work with I-Grace for our unmatched expertise as a luxury homebuilder and provider of high-end residential services. Whether our clients are building, renovating or maintaining their homes, I-Grace understands that the process is as important as the outcome.

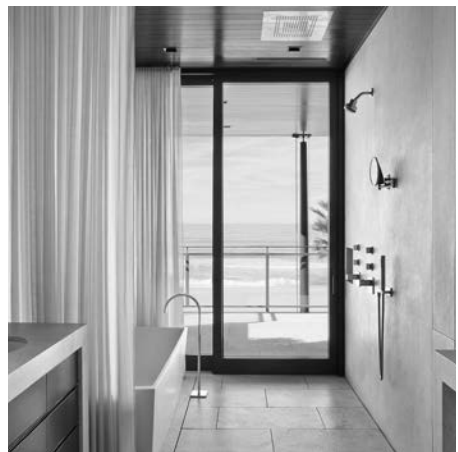

Our corporate culture is built upon enduring relationships—a place where corporate personnel, clients and architects are assured that quality, integrity and service are inseparable from our basic mission: building enduring value for our clients. The company is the logical extension of our belief that residential construction companies should be held to a higher standard and judged not only on the basis of uncompromising quality and service, but the quality of the total experience.

*First we build

*then we build
great projects.*
